

INFOhio Electronic Resources Home Access

INFOhio provides four Internet-based electronic resources to all Ohio public and non-public schools, at no charge, through June 2001. The State of Ohio has provided funds so these resources can be used at any computer that can access the World Wide Web in any school library media center, classroom, computer lab or office. A link for each resource is available at the INFOhio Web site: <http://www.infohio.org>

Data Acquisition Sites of the Ohio Education Computer Network have registered buildings' Internet addresses for most districts in their service areas, so no username or password should be necessary in school. All of the resources provide home access.
